

ICTPH Lecture Series 2010

Using Public-Private Partnerships to Address Gaps in Healthcare Delivery for TB Care

The talk will focus on tuberculosis in rural Tamil Nadu, specifically on methods of care and medical resources utilized to treat TB, as well as innovations in public and private partnerships in healthcare delivery for TB treatment.

by Dr. Nalini Krishnan

Date: Friday, February 12, 2010

Time: 3:00 pm

Venue: Conference Room, Guna Complex

Dr Nalini Krishnan is an MD in Internal Medicine who has specialized in tropical diseases and industrial medicine. She has 22 years of experience in the area of designing health programs. She has served as a Research Assistant and Physician in the Asthma & Allergy Clinic, the Government General Hospital Chennai, the Indian Council of Medical Research and the Tuberculosis Research Center, Chennai. Currently, she is a Director of Kasturi & Sons Limited, the publisher of The Hindu Group. She administers a comprehensive health clinic that is run for employees of the company and their families, with a focus on worksite wellness, occupational health and safety and prevention of lifestyle induced diseases. She is a founding member of REACH – Resource Group for Education and Advocacy for Community Health – an organization working to build a public-private mix (PPM) in the management of communicable diseases like tuberculosis.

